LIBYA'S ECO GENERATION

CLEAN LIBYA

An active stream of videos circling online on popular social media platforms such as Tiktok and Instagram, of young Libyans cleaning cluttered and polluted areas, either individually or in groups, all anchoring the caption #cleanlibya, has hinted at a potential environmental movement that has a good chance of ridding the wasteful atmosphere that plagues Libya's streets and land. This is all thanks to the famed American-Libyan university club known as LibyansClub, as they were the very first to kickstart this trend of ecological responsibility that will rid Libya of its wasteful environment.

Many have participated in this trend, promoting cleanliness and environmental care to the younger generation, and encouraging anybody to get up, bring along a few trashbags, and collect trash from their area, proving that the only way to improve our country's current predicaments, is to achieve community solidarity and unite ourselves to take care of our soil and home.

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HELP & SUPPORT THE CAUSE

All you need to do is the following:

-Acquire a few trash bags and puncture-resistent plastic gloves.
-pick a designated area with a good amount of trash.
-Clean that area and take a video of you or your group doing it.
-Post the video and tag the LibyansClub and one of their collaborators.

STAND UP AND TAKE ACTION, SHOW THAT YOU TRULY CARE ABOUT YOUR IDENTITY, CULTURE, AND HOME.

REHLA FOR SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

Have you ever wanted to improve your skills, volunteer, grow as a person, or make a difference in your community but never had the opportunity? What if I told you that the opportunity already existed?

Rehla for Sustainable Development is creating opportunities for ambitious young people to develop their skills, gain experience, volunteer, and become leaders in their communities.

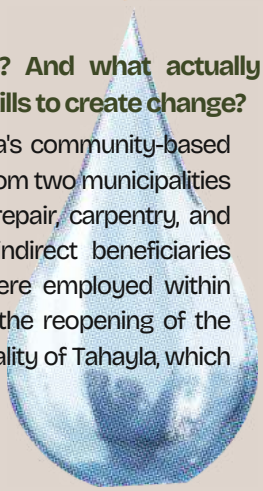

What is Rehla for Sustainable Development exactly?

Rehla is a Libyan non-profit organization focused on community development and youth empowerment. Through training, volunteering, leadership, and skills development, Rehla encourages young people to become active contributors and leaders in their communities, turning their ideas into initiatives that can create a better and more sustainable future.

So what do these opportunities look like? And what actually happens when young people are given the skills to create change?

Journey of the South is one example of Rehla's community-based approach. In its first phase, 26 young people from two municipalities received 10 days of training in water-pump repair, carpentry, and household electrical work. Around 23,000 indirect beneficiaries were reported, while 42% of participants were employed within three weeks. Another key achievement was the reopening of the carpentry workshop belonging to the municipality of Tahayla, which had reportedly been inactive since the 1980s.

Now you might be wondering: What about the impact beyond personal development? What are Rehla's environmental achievements?

Rehla's major environmental initiative, Gharsa, is one answer. Its goal is to plant 27,000 trees in Libya by 2027. Through QR codes, the initiative aims to track and monitor trees, including their location, growth, and survival.

So far, Gharsa has reported 4,589 trees planted, 11 municipalities reached, and 200 volunteers engaged.

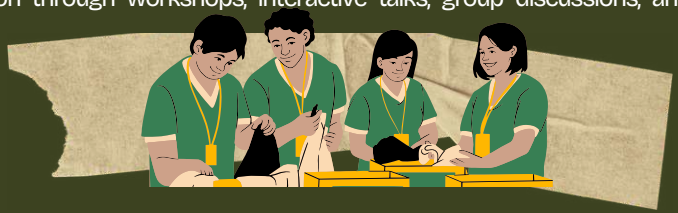

But is gaining practical skills enough to create a lasting change?

For Rehla, the journey continues through volunteering, experience, and leadership.

Companions of Rehla is a three-month volunteering and training program designed to help young people move from volunteering to leading community initiatives. Through training, field experience, and initiative development, participants learn about civic engagement, project planning, teamwork, and community needs assessment, before applying these skills in real activities and developing their own initiatives.

Another youth-focused program with the same idea of personal growth is Be the Difference, which aims to strengthen confidence, personal development, leadership, and community participation through workshops, interactive talks, group discussions, and educational activities.

So if you have ever wanted to improve your skills, volunteer, grow as a person, or make a difference in your community but thought you had no opportunity, perhaps the answer has been Rehla from the start. You just have to take the first step.

LIBYA'S STREETS AND FARMS ARE FILLED WITH STRAY CATS AND DOGS THAT GET MISTREATED DAILY. IT HAS SADLY BECOME COMMON FOR PEOPLE TO ABANDON THEIR PETS ONCE THEY GROW BORED OF THEM OR ARE UNABLE TO CARE FOR THEM ANY LONGER. AND THIS HAS TO STOP.

THE SUFFERING OF LIBYA'S STRAY ANIMALS: OUR TIME TO TAKE ACTION

STREET ANIMALS OFTEN SUFFER AT THE HANDS OF BOTH CHILDREN AND ADULTS. FOR YEARS, THEY HAVE BEEN ENDURING HARM AND ABUSE SUCH AS BEING STRUCK WITH ROCKS OR TIED TO TREES. SLOWLY DYING OF HUNGER, THIRST, OR EVENTUALLY STRANGULATION. MANY PEOPLE HAVE LOST THEIR EMPATHY TOWARDS ALLAH'S CREATIONS. AND THIS CONTINUES TO HAPPEN DUE TO THE FACT THAT MANY PARENTS FAIL TO TEACH THEIR CHILDREN HOW TO RESPECT AND CARE FOR ANIMALS.

The Islamic Ruling

Islam forbids killing or harming any animal for entertainment. Humans often forget that the Prophet (peace be upon him) commanded us to treat all living creatures with kindness, warning that mistreating them can lead to Hellfire. We all grew up knowing the famous Hadith of the man who offered water to a thirsty dog, whom the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "Allah thanked him and forgave him."

A Public Health Concern

Beyond our religious obligation, this crisis is also a public health concern. These animals often suffer from severe injuries and hunger, and often carry dangerous diseases. And they can also transfer viruses like rabies, fungal infections like ringworm, and parasites like fleas and ticks to humans and other animals.

HOW CAN WE HELP

The youth must lead the way by treating all animals with compassion. We can start with small actions, like offering food and clean water, and providing shelter whenever we can. If you spot an injured animal, move it to a safe spot away from traffic and passersby, and take it to a veterinary clinic if you are able. Most importantly, we must educate the younger generation. By teaching children kindness and empathy. We can create a safer, more compassionate Libya for both humans and animals alike.

THE CHEAT CODE THEY DON'T TEACH YOU IN SCHOOL

What if your final school exam decided your entire future in one week?

In Ireland last June, 146,553 teenagers lived that reality. In the UK, millions more did too. They call it the Leaving Cert in Ireland, and IGCSEs & A-Levels in the British system - but the pressure is the exact same one we feel before Thanawiya.

The difference is, they stopped trying to study everything and started studying smart.

In Ireland, school ends with two checkpoints. The Junior Cycle in 3rd year, and then the big one - the Irish Leaving Certificate. That final grade doesn't just say you graduated, it decides your college and your major.

So how do they survive? They have a system.

The Irish Blueprint: They don't just read, they start early and create a plan also practice real papers from the SEC - the official exam board - under timed conditions. Then they study the marking scheme to learn what keywords the examiner actually wants, They used active study techniques:replaced passive textbooks reading with active retrieval tools like flashcards ,fill in the blank summaries and mind maps they focus on conceptual understanding over memorizing All of this lives on one website called Studyclix, where you can sort any past paper by topic, watch video lessons, and even build your own custom exam.

The British Blueprint: IGCSE and A-Level students do the same, but their weapons are different. Their underground library is Discord - servers like Eduvance (https://discord.gg/a66dmcvuA) and Paper Lords (https://www.paperlords.org)where students solve papers together at 2 AM. Their teachers are YouTubers like Cognito and Science with Hazel, and their checklists are sites like Physics & Maths Tutor (https://www.physicsandmathstutor.com/) and Save My Exams (https://www.savemyexams.com/).

MORE THAN A CONFERENCE. IT'S A MOVEMENT.

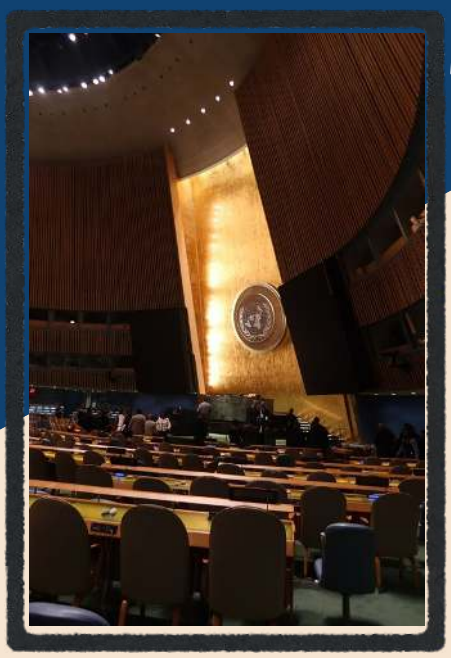

WHAT IS MUN?

Imagine a room where a 16-19-year-old speaks for a superpower. Where war and peace are debated not by presidents, but by students. Where you have to defend a country that is not your own, and find solutions for problems you did not create. That is MUN.

Model United Nations is not about pretending to be the UN. It's about learning how the world actually works — how to negotiate when no one agrees, how to speak when everyone is watching, and how to lead without force.
It's the one place where your voice is your only weapon, and your ideas are your only power.

IF YOU WANT TO SEE WHAT A GREAT MUN LOOKS LIKE, LOOK AT TRIPOLIMUN

TRIMUN:

The Backstory

Established on 20th August, 2026 at IMU COLLEGE by four visionaries — Taimullah Alasfar, Badr Kershman, Mustafa Mabruk and Sofian Allagui — TripoliMUN proved that you don't need decades of history to make an impact. You need determination. They faced confusion, problems, and fear, but they turned it into Libya's newest platform for youth diplomacy.

In its first edition, TripoliMUN tackled real, heavy topics:

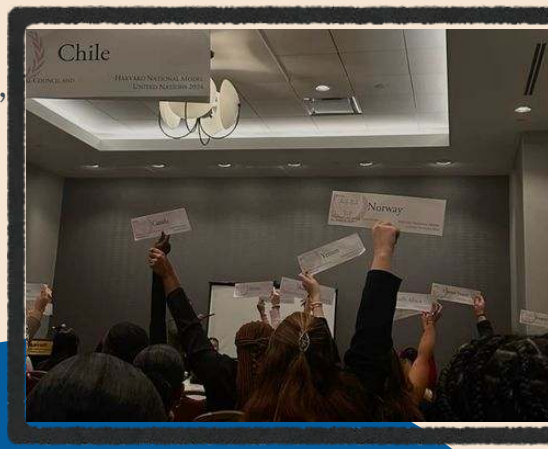

- UNSC: Protecting Civilians from Explosive Remnants of War
- HRC: Ending Child Labour

AND IT PRODUCED REAL LEADERS:

- Retal Abushwashi (HRC Best Delegate) Retal didn't just speak – she commanded the room with substance. In a committee as sensitive as the HRC, she showed what true diplomacy looks like and the rare ability to bring opposing blocs together to build consensus. That is the definition of an outstanding delegate .
- Bahan Mohamed Hnish (UNSC Best Delegate)The Security Council is the most intense, high-pressure committee in any MUN. It requires precision, strategy, and courage. Bahan embodied all three, they showed true diplomacy.
- Not to mention, their amazing admins like Menna Shagan & Obiada Almagribi who held the whole conference together perfectly.

TRIPOLIMUN IS THE PROOF THAT MUN IN LIBYA IS NOT JUST POSSIBLE — IT'S POWERFUL.

احبيتك

أحببتُكِ، وما أبقيتُ في القلبِ موضعًا
إلّا وأودعتُهُ سرًّا من الثقةِ فيكِ

وكنتُ أرى في قربكِ مأمنَ خاطري،
وأحسبُ أنَّ العهدَ لا يُنقضُ فيكِ

فيا عجبًا، كيف استحالّت مودّةٌ
إلى بُعدِ روحٍ كنتُ أرجوها بقربي؟

أعطيتُكِ القلبَ الذي لم أُعطِهِ أحدًا،
فكانَ جزائي أن خذلتِ ثقتي بي

وجئتِ بعد الخذلانِ تحملينَ اعتذارَكِ،
فأغلقتُ بابَ القلبِ، ما عادَ يسكنُهُ رجاءُكِ

مضيتِ... وظننتُ أنَّ الأمرَ انتهى،
وأنَّ الذي انكسرَ في داخلي لن يلتئمَ

فما بالُ قلبي اليومَ، رغمَ جراحِهِ،
يبحثُ بينَ أضلعي عن سبيلٍ ليسامحَكِ؟

وما بالُ روحي، وهي التي خاصمتْكِ،
تفتّشُ عن عذرٍ يليقُ بمسامحتِكِ؟

أأصفحُ عمّا كانَ، وأدفنُ خيبتي؟
أم أحفظُ الودَّ الذي كانَ بيننا وأرحلُ؟

لقد خذلتِ ثقتي... نعم، وما نسيتُ،
ولكنّني ما زلتُ أبحثُ:
كيفَ يُسامحُ القلبُ من أحبَّهُ
حين يكونُ الجرحُ منه... والدواءُ منه؟
